Workshop on

Colonial Legacy and Education in the Post-independence Setting

11 Novembre 2024

INVITATION TO PARTICIPATE

Education is a cornerstone of societal progress, shaping the minds and aspirations of generations. However, in many post-independence settings, the legacy of colonial-era education systems continues to influence contemporary educational practices, policies, and outcomes. This workshop seeks to explore the enduring impact of colonialism on education and the ways in which post-independence societies grapple with this legacy.

We invite teachers, researchers, educators, students, policymakers, and practitioners to contribute to this crucial dialogue at the "Colonial Legacy and Education in the Post-Independence Setting" workshop. This interdisciplinary event aims to shed light on the multifaceted aspects of colonial legacies in education and discuss innovative approaches to address them.
